

Maria Moya

Lead Organizer

Environmental Health Coalition

- 1990-94-San Diego State Foundation's "Por La Vida" educational training project for the Latino community. I coordinated "Luchando Contra el uso del Tabaco", a project that educated on health risks of second hand smoke.
- 1990-92- Worked for a research project for the Center For Disease Control to educate Latino communities in San Diego area, on the importance of childhood immunization and to increase immunization levels for Latino children.
- 1992-95-worked for "The Prenatal Care Network" on a Promotora project called "La Maternidad y Tu Salud", this project informed Latinas on the importance of early prenatal care, and assisted women to enroll into the Medi-Cal system to obtain early prenatal health care.

Since October of 1994, I have been with The Environmental Health Coalition (EHC) a 27 year old non-profit organization Promoting Environmental Justice in the San Diego/Tijuana Region- where I assisted in the development and implementation of an Environmental Justice and Community Organizing training manual S.A.L.T.A (Environmental Health Latinas Taking Action) Project,

Currently, I'm the Lead organizer for EHC's Toxic Free Neighborhood Campaign. This campaign works to resolve environmental injustice issues in the communities of Barrio Logan and Logan Heights in San Diego.
